YEAR IN REVIEW

INNOVATION • EXCELLENCE • INNOVATION • EXCELLENCE

DEAN'S MESSAGE

This September marks one year since the grand opening of the Goodes Hall expansion, and I find myself looking back with pride on the world-class facility we built together with the support of our alumni, students, faculty, staff and friends.

We now have an outstanding expanded facility in Kingston to enhance our students' learning experience and are well-positioned for growth at our new downtown Toronto facility. On the international stage, we have 100+ top global business school partners at which QSB students enhance their Queen's experience.

As you'll see from QSB's many accomplishments outlined in the 2012/2013 Year in Review, we've had a great year. In addition to these highlights, we have also launched our most recent professional masters program, the Master of Management Analytics (qsb.ca/mma), and continued to grow our Summer Innovation Institute (queensinnovation.ca), a joint initiative with the Faculty of Engineering and Applied Science to advance innovation and entrepreneurship for undergraduates.

As we enter the next phase of our fundraising campaign, I am also looking forward to executing the campaign's strategic priorities: increasing student diversity in the Commerce program; establishing more scholarships for full-time MBA students; attracting and retaining the best faculty; and further developing innovative teaching methods.

These strategic priorities will continue to strengthen QSB's position as a leader in the increasingly competitive global business education market. Your support of the school in the coming years will help us make this happen.

I hope you enjoy the Year in Review's look back, as we all look forward to the school's continued success.

David M. Saunders, PhD
Dean, Queen's School of Business

FACULTY

Chairs, Professorships and Fellowships support faculty research and teaching

Alumni and corporations have shown their support through investment in faculty chairs, fellowships and professorships. Commerce classes of '64, '77 and '83, Donald R. Sobey, BCom'57, and such corporations as Kraft and CIBC are directly linked to some of the School's top professors.

Named faculty positions provide prestige, recognition and dedicated funds to further professors' research and teaching. Funding of these positions is required to retain the outstanding faculty the school currently has, while also attracting the top teachers and researchers in a globally competitive field.

The Centre engages QSB researchers with colleagues in health sciences, public policy, law, and other disciplines to address the business aspects of healthcare theory, policy and practice. In addition to its business research in healthcare, the Centre is also pursuing an economic revitalization research theme.

2012/2013 Milestones

- The TriColour Venture Fund program attracted 12 students. As of March 2013, 11 business plans from companies in Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Kingston were considered for investment. Students conducted due diligence reviews on five of the plans and recommended investing in two to the Fund's Advisory Board.
- The QCBV-facilitated survey of Best Small and Medium Sized Employers (SME) in Canada received responses from more than 20,000 SME employees from coast-to-coast, the largest participation rate in the nine years that the Centre has participated in the program. The Top 50 were profiled in PROFIT magazine in February.

- Three 'Dare to Dream' student interns (one Commerce and two MBA recent graduates) received up to $15,000 for each of their new ventures. See the story on page 6 of the summer 2013 issue of QSB Magazine.

Students provide a range of cost-effective consulting services to small and medium-sized businesses, not-for-profit organizations, and other public enterprises.

2012/2013 Milestones

- QBC continued to expand the breadth and depth of client engagements by Commerce student consultants, giving them the opportunity to conduct real-world market research, feasibility studies and operations research, and develop marketing strategies and communications policies on behalf of a wide range of clients.
- Student consultants worked directly with clients across several industries, including a major veterinary clinic, a leading Kingston commercial printing company, a well-known frozen dessert retailer, a local municipality, a real-estate developer, a hazardous waste management company and a leading Canadian theatre company.

CPA-Queen's Centre for Governance

This Centre funds Queen's faculty and doctoral student research into Canadian and international corporate governance issues, especially those that relate to audit committees and quality financial reporting. - Organized the fifth annual Voluntary Sector Reporting Awards (VSRA) for financial reporting transparency, which is open to all not-for-profits in Ontario. Nominations have more than doubled since the program's inception, with more than 300 voluntary sector organizations having been through the rigorous screening and judging process.
- Enlisted a national media sponsor, which resulted in a two-page supplement in the National Post's Financial Post section, that highlighted VSRA program winners.
- Disseminated corporate governance research findings through 27 presentations of papers based on centre-funded projects. One such paper was awarded "best conference paper" honours at a prestigious international conference on finance in Taiwan and was also featured in the Wall Street Journal and an American Bankruptcy Institute Journal interview.

Queen's Executive Decision Centre

Canada's first electronic group-decision support facility remains much in demand. Participants in meetings facilitated by Centre staff – either at Goodes Hall or using the Portable Decision Centre in their own locations – use innovative QSB facilitation and special software to contribute their expertise to the discussions. In this way the Centre supports the strategic planning and decision-making tasks of executive teams from private- and public-sector organizations and is also used by Queen's faculty, staff and students.

2012/2013 Milestones

- Facilitated more than 100 electronic brainstorming events, including community consultations in 40 municipalities across Canada, and sessions for 25 national and First Nations groups across the country. Internally, the Centre facilitated sessions on behalf of Queen's School of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry, Library and Archives, Physical Plant Services and the Faculty of Health Sciences.

- Led several multi-stakeholder collaborations, including the Ontario Economic Summit that featured ten regional think tanks and culminated in a provincial conference attended by the Ontario Premier.
- Partnered in facilitating research sessions in such areas as rural economic development, waterfront planning, economic security of women in Ontario, immigrant settlement, cancer screening practices, national health human resource planning, children's mental health, youth bullying and harassment, autism, and injury prevention

Alumni Connections

Well after graduation, our alumni continue to have an impact on Queen's School of Business. From providing financial support, to speaking at student conferences and in the classroom, to recruiting new graduates and referring prospective students to our programs, alumni share in the school's successes and aspirations.

Staying connected

- 23 QSB alumni events across Canada, the US and UK brought together 920 attendees.
- 19 class reunions were held in 2012; 17 are planned for October 2013 as Homecoming returns to Queen's.
- The QSB Reunion Weekend Brunch in October 2012 attracted a record 236 alumni, faculty and staff.
- The second "Queen's Student Today, Alumni Tomorrow" luncheon in Toronto brought together 14 alumni and 65 Commerce students.
- QSB's outreach to alumni via social media resulted in a 25% increase in members joining the QSB Alumni LinkedIn group and an 83% increase in followership of @QSB, the school's Twitter account.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Queen's School of Business funds from various sources increased 10.6% in the 2012-2013 fiscal year as a result of strategic growth in student enrollments across several programs. The Master of Finance (MFin), Master of International Business (MIB) and Accelerated MBA for Business Graduates (AMBA) programs broke all previous records. The increase in the intake of Commerce students, made possible by the Goodes Hall expansion, resulted in more high-achieving candidates being accepted into the program.

Highlights of Giving

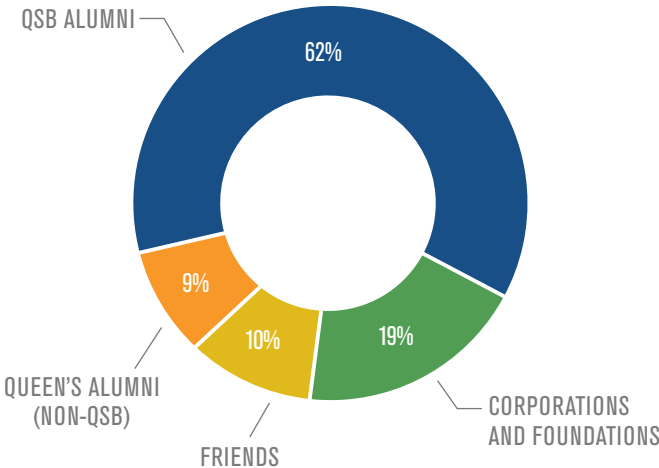

Summary of Donations Received (2006-2013)

Donations (cash received) to the school were $6.6M in 2012-13 ($6.3M in 2011-12). The support from QSB donors, students, alumni, staff, faculty and friends is instrumental to our success. The generous support of the school's donors enabled QSB to invest in key priorities: to continue to develop leaders, accelerate thought leadership, transform student learning and to complete the expansion of Goodes Hall on budget.

Gifts by Source (2012-2013)

The philanthropic commitment of alumni, friends and corporate and foundation partners helps provide the resources required to respond to an ever-changing business landscape. Our vision is to be one of the world's most innovative and influential business schools and the investment and partnership of our supporters is essential to our future growth and success.

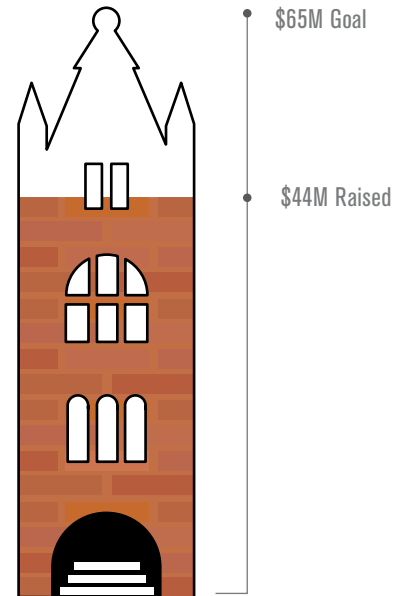

QSB Campaign Cabinet

The Invest in QSB fundraising campaign is being led by a remarkable group of more than 40 alumni and friends of Queen's School of Business, all of whom know first-hand or have witnessed how a QSB degree changes lives. They have not only given generously of their time, but have also made personal financial contributions that have bolstered the success of the campaign.

Funds raised through this campaign will allow QSB to remain at the forefront of Canadian business education, and ensure that students are given unparalleled opportunities that will guide their development into successful leaders.

Through the dedication of these volunteers and QSB staff, the campaign has already achieved great success, raising $22-million for the Goodes Hall expansion. The new wing officially opened in September, 2012. The campaign has now surpassed $44 million of its $65-million goal (as of July 30, 2013).

"The new Goodes Commons is the perfect place to be. We can have our meetings here, we can meet between classes, and we can plan the rest of our weeks together. It has really helped us increase the level of communications with our peers."

Elizabeth Nixon, BCom'13

"I was brought up to believe that giving was an important part of life and have always enjoyed assisting others. Since graduating, Deborah (BScH'86) and I have spent most of our time living and working abroad. When thinking about how to support Queen's, we were impressed by QSB's international exchange program.

"Over the years, we have met many Queen's graduates located around the world. Without exception, they have been happy and thriving. We wanted to help ensure that as many Commerce students as possible would have the opportunity to study internationally, to get an early perspective on what the world has to offer and how they can make a difference."

*"I've met many QSB alumni in my 35+ year career in business, much of which has been spent outside Canada. I'm often struck by how impressive they are, both in their professionalism and ability to compete against graduates from any other university in the world.
"As we continue to make our mark on the global business scene, the diversity of our graduates is another attribute that distinguishes us. That is why I have chosen to support a scholarship that gives priority to students from the United States to study Commerce at Queen's. Exposing the next generation of American business leaders to the exceptional QSB experience will only help to build awareness of the quality of our school in the wider international community."*

John Nixon, BCom'78

"I believe that prejudice, discrimination and other negative biases can be broken down through education and interaction with people of other backgrounds — experiences that Queen's offers its students. I give to the university because I believe a good education is important, and because I feel incredibly fortunate and proud to have attended Queen's.

"The Commerce program gave me a great foundation for my life after university. I want Queen's to be able to maintain its high standards, and for a wide range of students to be able to benefit as I did"

"Queen's School of Business was my "home away from home" during my four amazing undergraduate years there. My experience would not have been the same had alumni not given back to the school, and now it is my turn to repay their kindness.

"Contributing a small amount each month can really add up and makes a significant difference for current students. Show your appreciation for all the school has done for you by contributing to QSB."

"The Chancellor's Award had a significant impact on my university experience. It provided me with the opportunity to attend Queen's University and immerse myself within the school's community. The award allowed me to focus my time and energy on various initiatives across Canada and to give back to my community. The support of donors who made such an award possible was instrumental in giving me the chance to explore, learn and push my limits."

Paying it forward – QSB students raise $122,800 for worthy causes

There are 216 students going to school in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), thanks in part to funds raised through the Commerce Society's Frosh Week activities. In addition to contributing to the Nyantende Foundation, Frosh Week also supported six other national charities, to the tune of $9,000.

Giving back to the community, locally, nationally and internationally, is something QSB students take seriously. From ComSoc's 'Jail'N'Bail' that raised nearly $11,000 for the Canadian Cancer Society, to the MBA students' $11,175 donation to Right to Play, the efforts of QSB students to improve the conditions of others crosses all boundaries.

In 2012-2013, QSB students in various programs raised more than $122,800 in support of 22 charities.

"It's a wonderful feeling to know that as a Commerce family we not only come together to support each other, but also to support those around us who are less fortunate," said Natalie Fisher, BCom'13. She, along with classmates Brendon Holder, BCom'13 and Jacie DeHoop, Comm'14, were the organizers of ComSoc's Holiday for Hope campaign that raised $11,000, providing meals and toys for 78 local families, including 120 children, in December.

Frosh Week 2012 raised $9,000 for charity

Commerce students pledge $1.2M to Goodes Hall expansion

Commerce students have been showing their support for the Goodes hall expansion by agreeing to pay an optional annual fee of $97.50 that will generate $1.2 million over ten years. This initiative was spearheaded by the Commerce'08s and continues to draw wide support.

Thanks to the following Commerce students, from first to fourth year, who contributed to the new wing in 2012/2013.

“On the occasion of the 40th anniversary of my graduation, I started thinking about the intervening years and the impressions I have today about my time at Queen’s School of Business. What struck me most is that one course, Behavioural Accounting, and the professor, Norman Macintosh, had a lasting influence on my work-life. As a CEO for 25 years, I tried to set rules and policies that would be interpreted and followed, rather than perverted or skirted. Professor Macintosh’s work is very important to me and I found a way to thank him by creating the Professor Norman Macintosh MBA Entrance Scholarship.”

Jos Wintermans, MBA'72

“Being awarded the Len Morrow MBA Scholarship was very influential in my decision to attend Queen’s School of Business. The scholarship eased the financial burden and helped me to focus on my learning and interactions with many bright and dedicated classmates, professors, and alumni.

“My Queen’s experience has been fantastic. Thanks to Mr. Morrow’s generosity, I have strengthened my business acumen, fine-tuned my leadership skills, and made personal and professional contacts that will be instrumental as I move forward in my career.”

Class Gifts

Lisanne Hill (left), Sharon Ranson and John Gleeson present the BCom'80 class gift to Dean David Saunders at the 2012 Fall Reunion Brunch. The gift exceeded the class's $1-million target – and set the record as the largest class gift in QSB history. The funds will help qualified students in financial need enroll in the Commerce program, thanks to the newly established BCom'80 Award.

Donald Cranston presents the MBA'85 class gift to Dean David Saunders. In recognition of the funds being directed to the Goodes Hall expansion, a team room for MBA students was named in honour of the MBA'85 class.

To initiate or contribute to a class fund, please contact Shelley Hamill at shamill@business.queensu.ca or 855.572.1536.

Shawn Cooper and Douglas McCutcheon (in Commerce coveralls) present a cheque on behalf of the Com'87 class. More than 65% of the class participated in the campaign to raise funds for the Com'87 Award that will support Commerce students in financial need.

Kate Moraca presents the Commerce Class of 2013 COMMITment gift that supports an exchange bursary and the refurbishment of a display case in Goodes Hall.

Jeanette Lawrence proudly displays the cheque representing the 2013 Cornell-Queen's EMBA class gift in support of the Cornell-Queen's EMBA Fund presented at her class's convocation in May.

"I am honoured to be the recipient of the Commerce'64 Fellowship of Managerial Economics, and grateful for the support it has provided me in my research in business economics. This research explores such issues as the interaction between competition in the product market and innovation in organizations. A key ingredient to higher incomes and increases in the standard of living is innovation and associated productivity gains, areas where Canada has lagged in recent years. This research is of interest to policymakers, who seek to raise the standards of living of their constituents; and to business leaders, who try to adapt to ever-intensifying global competition. It is also of interest to my MBA students, the business leaders of tomorrow. I am very excited about this research, and grateful for the Commerce'64 Fellowship that has enabled me to explore this important topic."
