Bachelor of Commerce Placement Report - Class of 2010

Brian Marchant
Director, Business Career Centre
Queen's School of Business

Message from the director

On behalf of The Business Career Centre team at Queen's School of Business, I am pleased to present our Bachelor of Commerce Placement Report for the Class of 2010. This report has been created as a resource for prospective students, recruiters and alumni. It provides an overview of our most recent graduating class including chosen career paths and a list of recruiting organizations.

Queen's Bachelor of Commerce is a four-year honours program that is widely recognized as being Canada's most prestigious undergraduate business degree offering. With entrance standards among the highest of any undergraduate business program in Canada, the program attracts outstanding students from across the country and around the world. Leading organizations understand the value of recruiting Queen's Commerce grads into their firms.

The Business Career Centre at Queen's School of Business has developed an outstanding mix of career services and coaching to ensure success for our graduates. Our four-year Career Management Plan guides our students through personal development, purposeful career exploration and supports them in securing positions in their chosen fields.

The outstanding quality of our graduates is demonstrated by the program's exceptional placement rate of 93%, the highest among business schools in Canada. Recruiters and Commerce graduates alike can attest to the academic excellence and exceptional experience that a Queen's degree provides. As a potential employer or a prospective Commerce student, I encourage you to investigate the extensive opportunities Queen's School of Business has to offer.

Class of 2010 Placement Statistics

In 2010, 293 students graduated from the Queen's Commerce Program. Of these, 19% have decided to continue their education or postponed their job search for various reasons. Of those graduates who elected to seek employment, 93% had found career quality jobs within six months of graduation. This strong placement result is in line with our historical experience at Queen's School of Business.
