YEAR IN REVIEW

Dean's Message

When I look back on the 2016/2017 fiscal year, I am pleased to report we are building on the success of our 10-year Invest in Smith fundraising campaign and laying a foundation that will enable us to thrive in an increasingly competitive market. To do so, we have expanded our program offering, invested in recruitment and developed strategic partnerships that enrich the Smith experience for our students.

PROGRAM GROWTH

Our broad portfolio of business education programs has never been stronger. The Master of Entrepreneurship and Innovation program has doubled in size; our Master of Management Analytics added a new section to meet demand; and we are exploring new executive education offerings in fintech. We will continue to adapt and grow to ensure our graduates are prepared for the rapidly evolving market.

INVESTING IN FACULTY AND STUDENTS

One of the goals for Stephen Smith's $50-million gift to the school was to help us attract the best and brightest talent from across Canada and around the world. Substantial student scholarships have supported our recruiting over the last two years, and we are pleased to have announced our investment in faculty. In October 2016, we awarded three internal Smith Chairs to recognize excellence in research at Smith. Moving forward, we will use additional funds to recruit external Smith Research Chairs in Finance and Financial Accounting.

STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

In November 2016, we announced an eight-year strategic partnership with the Canadian Olympic Committee (COC) that will provide scholarships for up to 1,200 COC athletes. We already have many athletes enrolled across a broad range of our programs — contributing to the high-performance team culture that is one of the hallmarks of the Smith experience. Smith will also be the exclusive provider of business education for the COC, and the first business school to become a Team Canada partner.

In March 2017, we unveiled the new IBM Canada | Smith Cognitive Computing Centre at Smith's downtown Toronto campus. The first of its kind at a business school in Canada, the centre gives Smith faculty the opportunity to integrate the latest in artificial intelligence and cognitive computing into our curriculum. It also gives our students access to the tools that are driving the current wave of business insights.

I continue to be amazed at the power of the Smith community — the alumni, students, faculty and staff who make our school stronger. Thank you again for your ongoing support of the school.

MBA PROGRAMS

MBA PROGRAMS

Four distinct MBA programs are offered, each designed to meet the unique requirements of a different segment of the population interested in furthering their careers by obtaining this highly prized degree.

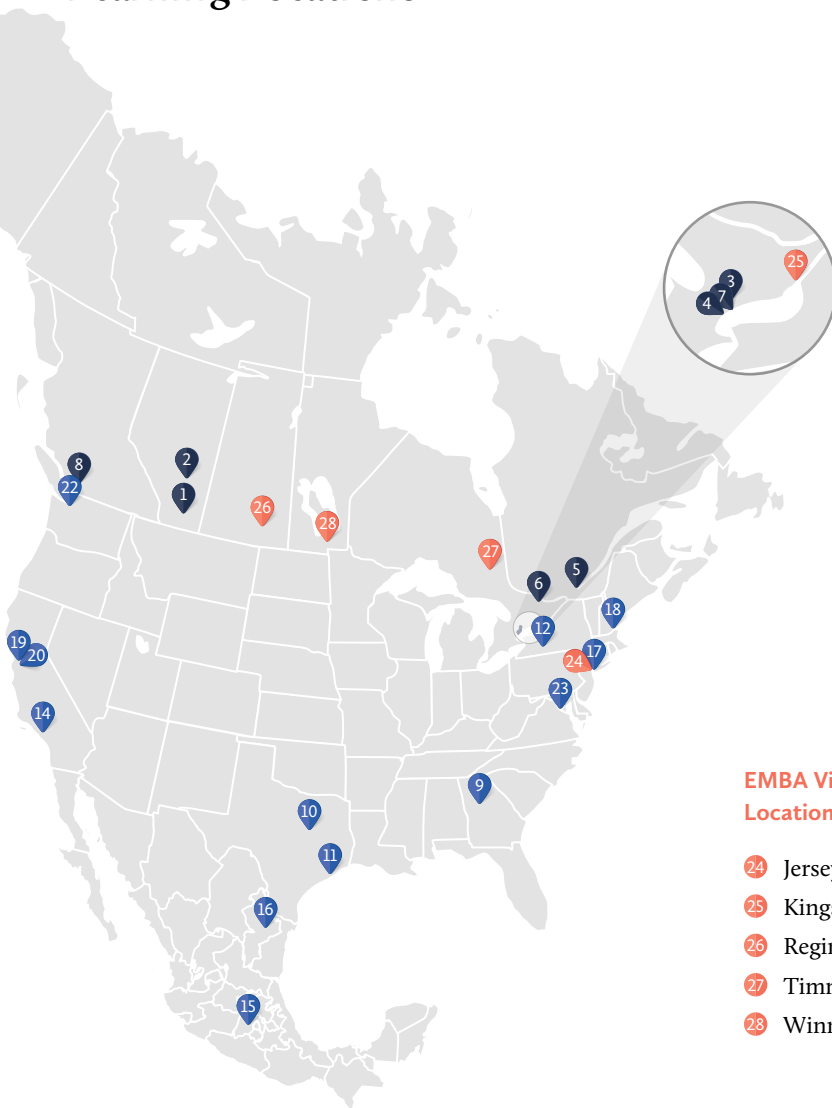

ssb.ca/mba

	Duration	Location	Program Details
Full-time MBA	12 months	Kingston	Designed for those with an undergraduate degree and at least two years of work experience. Delivered in an intensive 12-month, team-based learning format.
Executive MBA	16 months, while continuing to work	Anywhere in Canada	Designed for those with an undergraduate degree* and relevant work experience. Delivered through a combination of on-campus and interactive videoconference boardroom and virtual team sessions on Fridays and Saturday mornings of alternate weeks. *Participants without an undergraduate degree but with extensive work experience may be considered.
Accelerated MBA	12 months, while continuing to work	Cities across Canada	Designed for those with an undergraduate degree in business and a minimum two years of work experience. Delivered through a combination of on-campus and interactive videoconference boardroom sessions on Sundays and Monday mornings of alternate weeks.
Executive MBA Americas	17 months, while continuing to work	Cities across Canada, the U.S., Central and South America	Designed for those with an undergraduate degree and relevant work experience. Delivered through a combination of on-campus sessions at Queen's and Cornell and interactive videoconference boardroom sessions held on alternate weekends. Graduates receive both a Queen's and Cornell MBA degree.

2016/2017 Milestones

- The Full-time Queen's MBA Class of 2017 was the largest since the program shifted to a January start date in 2014. This year's charity gala raised more than $7,000 for addiction and mental health services in the local region. Founded in 2013, the annual charity gala has raised more than $35,000 for local non-profit and charitable organizations.
- The EMBA Americas Class of 2018 was comprised of students from the U.S. (53%), Canada (36%), Mexico (7%) and South America (4%). Since June 2016, annual scholarships covering 50% of tuition costs have been awarded to highly qualified women entering the EMBA and EMBA Americas programs. These are offered in partnership with the 30% Club, a global organization dedicated to having 30% of the seats on boards of S&P/TSX 60 companies occupied by women.
- The Queen's Executive MBA Class of 2018 attracted students from across the country in boardroom learning locations and virtual teams in 12 Canadian cities and towns. Now in its 25th year, the EMBA program continues to offer its highly successful certificate program in partnership with CEIBS in Shanghai, China.
- The Accelerated MBA Class of 2018 attracted a record number of students, thanks in part to referrals from alumni and employers. Class members benefited from their colleagues' broad experience in more than 30 different industries.

GRADUATE PROGRAMS

Doctoral Program in Management

- Provides students with conceptual and analytic tools required to generate leading-edge research in an individually tailored program that comprises coursework, research and the preparation and defence of a thesis on an original topic.
- Typically requires four to five years of full-time study to complete and equips graduates with the skills and expertise to make a significant contribution to academia.
- In 2015/2016, 44% of eligible PhD students were awarded competitive federal, provincial and university scholarships, providing them with additional funding for their studies.

ssb.ca/phd

Master of Science in Management

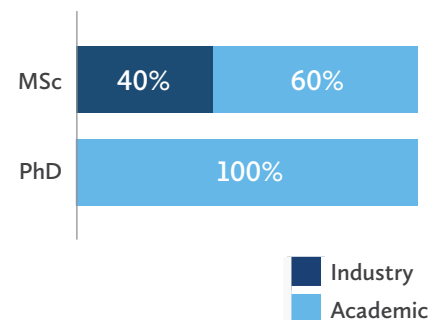

- Intensive 12-month program focusing on business research in one of nine fields of study: accounting, finance, management information systems, international business, marketing, organizational behaviour, management science, business economics, and strategy.
- Prepares students for entry into high-quality doctoral programs or careers as research analysts or consultants.
- The third annual Graduate Student Consortium offered MSc and PhD students the opportunity to focus on their presentation, writing and teaching skills.

Master of Finance

Now in its seventh year, this intensive one-year program is designed for finance professionals who want to accelerate their careers. Optional sessions prepare students for CFA exams, providing an inside edge for those interested in obtaining the CFA designation.

The program expanded in September 2014 to Beijing, in partnership with Renmin University of China. Graduates of both programs receive a Queen's Master of Finance degree.

This year, an MFin-Toronto team placed first in the inaugural CFA Canadian Ethics Challenge.

Toronto, Canada

Classes held one evening per week and one day on alternate weekends at Smith's campus in downtown Toronto and during residential sessions at Smith in Kingston. Students may earn an MBA in addition to the MFin degree by applying credits across both programs at a significantly reduced fee.

ssb.ca/mfin

Renmin, China

Classes held on weekends at Renmin University of China in Beijing, with tutorials held weeknights. The program is taught in English by faculty from both Queen's and Renmin's Hanqing Advanced Institute of Economics and Finance.

Master of Management Analytics

Now in its fourth year of operation, this intensive 12-month program is offered at Smith's downtown Toronto campus. The MMA program is designed for students interested in pursuing the growing field of management analytics, in which data collection, analysis and conversion to valuable business outputs are key needs. According to a McKinsey & Company study, the demand for talent in this specialized field will outpace supply by 50% across North America by 2018.

Curriculum includes courses that may be applied toward the certification requirements for either a Certified Associate in Project Management (CAPM), or, with additional training, a Project Management Professional (PMP) with the Project Management Institute. The program also prepares students to receive SAS Certification from the leader in business analytics software and services.

Due to increasing demand, a new section was introduced in January 2017 so that students can elect to start the program in either January or June each year.

Master of Entrepreneurship and Innovation

Launched in 2015, this 12-month program is designed to develop effective start-up experts, leaders of innovation and entrepreneurs. Offered in partnership with Queen's Faculty of Engineering and Applied Science, classes are facilitated by professors from both faculties.

To accommodate the unique needs of aspiring entrepreneurs and corporate innovators, a new program delivery option was developed. Through residential boot camp sessions, some students will complete the program while continuing to work remotely for their current employer or in the marketplace where they plan to launch their businesses.

The on-campus incubator and accelerator is available for those students who choose to take the program in the traditional format on campus, allowing for a more immersive experience.

The program is highly experiential, offering start-up and innovation internships that provide students with practical, hands-on experience in a rapidly evolving space. Corporate partners and alumni play a large role in the program, from mentoring to delivering practical workshops and providing valuable internships.

Graduate Diploma in Accounting

Now in its seventh year, this 13-week summer program prepares recent business undergraduates to obtain their Chartered Professional Accountant designation. Queen's GDA program comprises five courses that prepare candidates for entry into CPA Capstone Modules 1 and 2. Upon completion of their GDA, candidates are ready to write their professional examinations — a major step in attaining a CPA designation — a full year earlier than had they not completed the program. The GDA Class of 2015 achieved a pass rate of 90.2% for first-time writers.

Graduate Diploma in Business

Designed for recent university graduates with a degree in a non-business discipline, Queen's Graduate Diploma in Business is a four-month summer program that covers business fundamentals. Credits earned in the program can be applied towards Queen's Full-time MBA and other Master's degree programs.

Since the program's inception in 2014, 11 graduates have returned to complete the Full-time MBA and 13 have enrolled in other Smith Master's programs. Approximately 75% of the Class of 2016 acquired jobs within six months of completing the GDB program; 20% elected to pursue further education.

Research and Faculty

Smith Business Insight, a research showcase website (ssb.ca/insight) founded in 2013, continues to build a global audience for the school's thought leadership.

40 faculty articles were published in academic journals, eight of which appeared in publications cited in the Financial Times' list of 45 top-tier journals worldwide.

7 Smith School of Business professors received research grants from Canada's Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council, totalling $474,600.

6 Smith faculty received Monieson Collaborative Research Grants enabling them to work collaboratively with internal and external researchers to accelerate their research, obtain external grants and publish in top-tier journals.

- At a reception in November 2016:

Julian Barling was presented with the Smith School of Business Research Excellence Award

Matthias Spitzmuller received the New Researcher Achievement Award

- Smith welcomed numerous visiting scholars. See the complete list at ssb.ca/scholars.

CENTRES

Queen's Executive Education

Queen's Executive Education is a leader in management education in Canada, both through its open-enrolment and custom programs, which are tailored to specific organizations' needs.

ssb.ca/execed

2016/2017 MILESTONES

- Delivered customized program designs and solutions for 37 corporate clients and designed more than 90 customized program solutions for prospective clients.
- Launched the Flexible Education Program, consisting of eight two-day programs that allow participants to earn an Advanced Executive Certificate.
- Expanded open enrolment program offerings in Toronto by adding six new two-day business education programs.
- Placed second in the world for growth in custom programs in the 2017 Financial Times education ranking.

Scotiabank Centre for Customer Analytics

Launched in February 2016, and named in recognition of a $2.2-million contribution from Scotiabank, this centre brings together professors and students to collaborate with Scotiabank teams on applied research in customer analytics. It is also focused on building a community of analytics practitioners and innovators across industries. Smith PhD, MSc, Master of Management Analytics (MMA) and MBA students also benefit from internship opportunities at Scotiabank.

ssb.ca/ssca

Team Sapphire from Smith School of Business was the winning team at the International Innovation Challenge 2016.

2016/2017 MILESTONES

- Delivered quarterly community seminars on topics ranging from loyalty, machine learning, evidence-based decision-making and change management, which featured experts from Smith, Scotiabank and other industry leaders in analytics.
- Organized and hosted the 2016 Queen's International Innovation Challenge, which attracted 259 teams comprised of students from eight countries and 69 post-secondary institutions. Teams were given tools and data to produce a solution to an analytics problem posed by event sponsors.
- Managed 20 research projects conducted by Smith students and Scotiabank researchers, supported by additional funding from Mitacs, a national, not-for-profit organization that funds research supporting industrial and social innovation in Canada.

Queen's Executive Decision Centre

Canada's first electronic group-decision support facility remains much in demand. Participants in meetings facilitated by centre staff use the school's innovative facilitation software to contribute their expertise to the discussions. Clients include private- and public-sector organizations as well as Queen's faculty, staff and students.

ssb.ca/execdecision

2016/2017 MILESTONES

- Facilitated 107 electronic brainstorming events, including the development of a community plan for a remote Indigenous community; a new business model for a major record label; a strategic direction change for a TV cable company; a teaching and learning plan for a major Canadian university; and a risk assessment of global navigation satellite systems.
- With its new state-of-the-art meeting facility in Goodes Hall and innovative web-enabled technology, centre facilitators are able to conduct both virtual and face-to-face meetings.
- Internally, the centre facilitated workshops on behalf of the Queen's Provost administrative committees, research groups, undergraduate classes and SSHRC roundtables.

IBM Canada | Smith Cognitive Computing Centre

In March 2017, a new cognitive computing centre was unveiled at Smith's downtown Toronto campus. The IBM Canada | Smith Cognitive Computing Centre, the first of its kind at a business school in Canada, is a collaborative space that provides an exclusive artificial intelligence demonstration experience for IBM clients and enhanced access to cognitive computing solutions for Smith students and faculty.

The centre consists of seven interactive wall screens for users to work directly with IBM Watson technologies in a multi-media environment. Under this five-year collaboration, IBM will offer several annual internships to Smith students, providing opportunities to work with IBM Watson technologies in a business setting.

ssb.ca/ibmsmith

Centre for Business Venturing

The Centre for Business Venturing supports the creation, leadership and management of new ventures. Its activities range from embedding new-venture thinking into the curriculum — including an elective course that enables students to invest monies from the TriColour Venture Fund — to providing new ventures with access to capital, and conducting applied research in business venturing.

ssb.ca/qcbv

Students and alumni mix at a Queen's Venture Network event in Toronto.

2016/2017 MILESTONES

- Eighteen MBA and four Commerce students took part in the TriColour Venture Fund where they put real money into real businesses. Students met with four potential portfolio companies, assessed opportunities, conducted due diligence and made recommendations to the Investment Advisory Board, a committee of entrepreneurs, angel investors, and venture capitalists. Two companies were recommended for investment.
- Dare to Dream internships, valued at $15,000, were awarded to Mark Balovnev, Comm'18; Colin Harding, BCom'17; Altair Ioffe, GDB'15, MBA'17; Manny Kandola, EMBA'15; and Lisa Orr, BCom'01, AMBA'16. These internships were funded by Dany Battat and Gia Steffensen, both BCom'78; Valerie Mann, BCom'86; Cogeco; CIBC; and the RLS Foundation.
- Launched a new strategic partnership with Great Places to Work™, a global authority on building, sustaining and recognizing high-trust, high-performing workplace cultures.

Centre for Social Impact

The Centre's mission is to educate students and promote outreach and advocacy on issues of social impact. This involves fostering education in the fields of responsible leadership and social impact; supporting research and providing advice in key focus areas; providing support for local communities; and being a global advocate on issues of responsible leadership and social impact.

ssb.ca/csi

Patrick Glinski of Idea Couture leads a workshop on Design Thinking in Healthcare.

2016/2017 MILESTONES

- Enrolled more than 500 Smith students in the Certificate in Social Impact program and facilitated more than 4,000 hours of volunteer outreach in communities across Canada by Smith students working towards obtaining their certificates.
- Hosted the Hult Prize Case Competition, with ten teams vying for a chance to compete at the regional finals. Two Smith teams advanced to the regionals in Dubai, UAE, and in London, U.K.
- Hosted various speaker series and events, including the annual Social Impact Summit and Social Innovation Bootcamp; the annual COSI (Community of Social Innovation) scholarly gathering and a Design Thinking in Healthcare workshop.
- Launched a Professional Leadership Program and Public Certificate in Social Impact at the sold-out Social Finance Academy program in Toronto.

Queen's Business Consulting

Queen's Business Consulting has operated for 40 years and is Canada's top undergraduate consulting program. This year-round venture is managed by senior Commerce students under the guidance of the centre's Director. Students provide a range of cost-effective consulting services to small and medium-sized businesses, not-for-profit organizations and other public enterprises.

ssb.ca/qbc

2016/2017 MILESTONES

- Students completed more than 12 consulting projects entailing more than 2,500 hours of service to the local community, including start-ups, family-owned businesses, local not-for-profits, regional governments and various Queen's departments.
- Projects included the completion of a feasibility study on the launch of an innovative new education program for Queen's medical students; the development of marketing plans for two family-owned businesses; a resource-utilization and capacity-planning study for a local not-for-profit; and the development of a resident-attraction program for a local municipality.

The QBC Consultants, winter 2017.

Financial Report

Smith School of Business funds from various sources increased 4.2% in the 2016/2017 fiscal year. Enrolment increased 2%, led mainly by the growth in the Master of Management Analytics program offered at Smith's downtown Toronto campus. The Toronto campus is also home to students of the Master of Finance, EMBA, AMBA, EMBA Americas and Queen's Executive Education programs. Due to the growth of these program offerings and enrolments, this year the Toronto campus was expanded, the costs of which are reflected in the increase in capital expenditures.

Endowment income continues to increase due to the growth in the endowment itself and improved market returns. Endowment-income growth is a critical component of Smith's revenue-growth strategy, enabling the school to continue to invest in faculty, students and the Smith experience.

² Endowed contributions are those for which the principal must remain intact.

The endowment generates investment income presented on this page as 'Endowment income'.

³ 'Restricted for capital project' funds are gifts and contributions received for the Goodes Hall Expansion project completed in 2012.

CONTRIBUTORS REPORT

Highlights of Giving

Thanks to the generosity of alumni, friends, faculty, staff, students, parents, corporate and foundation partners, Smith School of Business has continued to raise funds in support of priorities that will help ensure our students achieve their full potential.

We are pleased to recognize our cumulative donors over $25,000, Royal Legacy Society donors, new contributors and loyal donors on pages 31-40, while highlights from last year's class-giving campaigns can be found on pages 42-49.

Thank you!

GIFTS BY SOURCE (2016/2017)

In the 2016/2017 fiscal year, 2,225 donors supported Smith School of Business and $5.2M was raised. See chart beside for total giving by source.

*Includes Queen's faculty and staff

GIFTS AND PLEDGE PAYMENTS by priority (2016/2017)

Every effort is made to ensure the accuracy of the donor lists (on the following pages) which recognize donations made in the fiscal year May 1, 2016 to April 30, 2017. However, errors occasionally occur. If your name has been omitted, misspelled or incorrectly listed, please contact investinsmith@queensu.ca.

“My decision to accept a faculty position at Smith School of Business was influenced by such factors as the school’s excellent reputation, the strength of its finance and economics academic areas and its track record in supporting professors’ research. After only a year on faculty, I was honoured to be named the Commerce ’77 Fellow of Finance, a position which provides additional funding for my research.

This funding will make it possible for me to work in closer collaboration with colleagues across the country and to attend finance conferences that bring together the top experts in our field. Idea-sharing at these conferences has led me to launch research studies in such areas as executive compensation and stress tests for financial institutions — topics that have implications across society as a whole. This funding will also enable me to involve graduate students, providing them with invaluable experience while also helping to further my research objectives.

I’m grateful that the Commerce Class of 1977 chose to support faculty research. Not only does their support serve to expand knowledge in a number of subjects, that knowledge, in turn, is shared in the classroom, enriching the learning experience of our students. ”

PIERRE CHAIGNEAU

“It was a proud day for this Queen’s family when our son Eric graduated from the Commerce program in May. As a Commerce alumna, I had been impressed by how the program has grown over the years to offer even more opportunities to its students than I had enjoyed in the 1980s. My husband, Stephen Kouri, and I saw how these many opportunities had enriched Eric’s academic and extracurricular experience and prepared him for his life after university.

We’re gratified that the financial support of donors such as ourselves will enable future generations of Commerce students to also make the most of their Queen’s experience.”

“ My Queen's MBA formal and informal experience provided a solid foundation that has helped me immeasurably and enriched my life both personally and professionally. I am a contributor to the MBA Legacy Fund and have chosen to include Queen's in my estate plans as my way of helping MBA students today and future generations of business students reap the rewards of an excellent education and make their own contributions to society, as supporters before me provided resources that I drew on as a student. ”

ELLIOTT JACOBSON, MBA'69

Remembering the School in Your Will

“More than academics and extracurriculars, the Smith experience extends to supporting the health and wellness of our students. For seven years, Smith has been offering one-on-one counselling to students to support their personal, academic and social development. Whether they’re experiencing anxiety, academic difficulties or a personal crisis, students can access counselling services within the familiar environment of Goodes Hall from a counsellor well versed in the school’s academic programs.

Alumni have been generous in contributing to such initiatives as the Commerce Legacy Fund for Student Health and Wellness, established by the Commerce Class of 2013. This support has enabled us to assist students in developing the skills they need to solve their own problems, make their own decisions and cope more effectively with life’s challenges and daily demands.”

“ One of the deciding factors behind my decision to apply to Queen’s Commerce was the opportunity to go on an international exchange. I was fortunate not only to have been accepted into this top-rated program, but also to have gone on exchange to Università Bocconi, Italy — my first choice.

Meeting fellow exchange students from around the world and working with them on projects and presentations was an amazing experience that also led to friendships that will last for years to come. I’ve long been interested in eventually working in Europe and this exchange allowed me to get a taste of Italy before making longer-term career decisions.

I’m grateful to HSBC for its financial support that enabled me to experience this amazing journey. ”

BCom'17, '18, '19 & '20 Students Take the Pledge

A campaign started by the BCom'08s continues to garner support from Commerce students across all years of the program. Hundreds have contributed an optional annual fee of $97.50 that will generate $1M over 10 years for the new wing of Goodes Hall that opened in 2012.

For a complete list of the names of Commerce students who have pledged their support, visit ssb.ca/pledge.

“I was so grateful and humbled to have been selected to receive the Commerce 1987 Award as I started my first year in the Commerce program. It was so meaningful to have the collective generosity of this entire class behind me at the start of my academic journey. Their investment allowed me to focus on my academics while being more at ease with my finances. It also enabled me to grow through participating in extracurricular activities, including serving on the executive of the Queen’s Leadership, Excellence and Development conference, which aims to inspire high school students to pursue a business degree. My participation in the Conference helped me set my sights on attending Queen’s Commerce, which turned out to be a life-altering decision.”

Class Giving 2016/2017

Homecoming 2016 was a great success with 21 classes returning. Of these, 14 chose to participate in reunion campaigns. Five graduating classes also took part in campaigns and presented their class gifts during Convocation in May. Classes supported a variety of initiatives, such as student financial aid, the Commerce Student Health & Wellness Fund and the MBA Legacy Fund.

The combined efforts of these classes raised a total of $1,946,164, with more than $40,000 coming from graduating class gifts. This marks the largest collective class-giving year in the school's history, something that was only made possible through the dedicated support of the Class Giving and Reunion volunteers of these campaigns (noted below).

Top 20 Class Endowed Funds

Class Leaders event, February 2017.

Class gift campaigns demonstrate the outstanding generosity of Smith School of Business alumni through the decades. Some classes have worked for years to grow their class' endowed fund, and the benefits to our students have grown exponentially. The Top 20, right, have changed lives by enabling exceptional and deserving students to attend Queen's, or through their support of other academic programs and initiatives. All have contributed to ensuring a first-rate academic experience and exceptional learning environment for current and future generations of Smith students.

Thank you Alumni Volunteers!

Over a thousand alumni donated their valuable time to numerous initiatives, events and activities in support of the school in 2016/2017. Programs for students — including conferences and competitions, mentoring, career support and recruitment activities — all rely heavily on alumni participation.

Thanks to all who donated their valuable time and talents!

Kiran Manjunath, MBA'10, has been an enthusiastic supporter of the Full-time MBA program in the years following his graduation. From conducting mock interviews to help students land their first post-graduation jobs, to serving on the MBA Advisory Board, Kiran has volunteered many hours of his time to help improve the program and support MBA students' future success.

“It has been enormously rewarding to help students make the most of their MBA experience. I generally start conversations by exploring their bigger purpose beyond just finding a job, which helps me to get to know them better and work with them accordingly. Some of them have become good friends, colleagues at work and people upon whom I can rely for expertise on specific subjects,” says Kiran. “I would encourage others to explore the many options open to alumni to help Smith continue to deliver this exceptional program to current and future students.”

KIRAN MANJUNATH, MBA'10
